

The consolidation of media, whether television, radio, or other formats is not in my best interest, nor in the public's best interest. Companies like Clear Channel have the public airwaves not worth listening to with mainstream, mass-marketed pop garbage.